

Contents

Volume 5.1

01 Editorial | Measuring progress imaginatively could start a revolution 05 News | The latest in creative teaching

08 Standing on the shoulders of giants

Spring this year saw the loss of two major architects of the thinking skills movement – Professors Bob Burden and Reuven Feuerstein. Judy Silver pays tribute.

12 Assessment in the new curriculum

The next few years will see some dramatic changes to the way all schools assess and track pupil progress. Sue Hackman considers the implications of life without levels and more.

20 Flipping classrooms

Challenge the traditional teaching model and start flipping your students' learning journey today. Chris Waterworth explains how in this introduction to the flipped classroom.

44 Writing with music

Jeffrey Pflaum reveals how a musical prompt can give children the opportunity to explore how they feel about themselves and others in a safe, imaginative way.

29 Getting kids reading

The pleasure principle

Barbara Band shares a number of ways to get even the most reluctant members of the school community promoting and enjoying reading for pleasure.

Engaging struggling readers

Moved by her experiences with struggling readers, author Cathy Farr rewrote her fantasy children's novel to make it accessible to all. She explains how she did it – and why it was all so worth it.

54 Wild at heart – How animals can enhance teaching and learning

From scientific discoveries and animal-inspired lessons to zoo trips and classroom pets, Kenny Coogan takes a look at the many ways animals can enrich the everyday learning experience.

62 Violence and prejudice – Giving young people the skills to think independently

Sue Lyle presents a series of activities to help develop young people’s questioning skills and give them the space to explore a range of social issues important to them.

69 Tools for the flipped classroom

Turn your classroom upside down with this selection of useful websites and online tools to support flipped learning.

CROSS CURRICULUM PROJECT PLAN

Exploring Africa

It’s the most diverse continent on the planet, but what can we learn from Africa’s kaleidoscope of cultures, climates and creatures?

75

Editorial Office

EDITOR
Howard Sharron

PRODUCTION EDITOR
Maisie Gould

DESIGN MANAGER
Devinder Sonsana

MARKETING
James Mason

ADVERTISING
0121 224 7599

EDITORIAL BOARD
Vivienne Baumfield, Roger Sutcliffe

Robert Fisher, Graham Handscomb, Patrick Costello, Karin Murriss, Alan Edmiston, Steve Higgins, Sue Eagle

Creative Teaching & Learning is published by Imaginative Minds, 309 Scott House, Gibb Street, Digbeth Birmingham, B9 4DT

Tel: 0121 224 7599
Fax: 0121 224 7598
Email: howard@imaginativeminds.co.uk

© Imaginative Minds 2013
ISSN 2043-7277

No part of this publication may be reproduced, copied or transmitted in any form or by any means without the express permission of the publisher.

Creative Teaching & Learning is an independent magazine. The views expressed in signed articles do not necessarily represent those of the magazine. The magazine cannot accept any responsibility for products and services advertised within it.

Printed in the UK by Magazine Printing Company Plc