06 Our Journey into Thinking
Since 1999, Welton Primary School’s creative curriculum has produced staggering results on children’s attainment levels and social development. Laura Kilvington describes how creativity improved Maths and English SAT scores.

14 Fixated on the Screen?
How does the computer screen affect boys’ literacy? Collette Higgins’ research suggests ways to respond, including multi-modal texts and a widening of the range of genres boys encounter.

20 Visible Thinking
It was one of the biggest ideas to come out of the International Conference on Thinking in Belfast this year, but what is ‘Visible Thinking’? Lotta Norell illuminates, with her approach to teaching about Vikings as an example.

26 Closing the achievement gap in Ulster
A group of low achieving ‘non-exam’ children in Ulster were given a course of Feuerstein’s Instrumental Enrichment. It produced some very surprising GCSE results.

35 What is Instrumental Enrichment?
Many of the world’s curricula for children are based upon his programme of intervention, yet the master is often forgotten. A look into Reuven Feuerstein’s Instrumental Enrichment.
38 Planning Classroom Activities for Critical Thinking
How to apply the key principles of critical thinking in curriculum planning - Sue Lyle illustrates with an example from her teaching pack ‘Arctic Stories.’

48 Opening Up China
Promoting independent and enquiry-based learning - the web is a hot pot of resources, ideas and inspiration for a cross-curricular project about China. We look at some of the best sites out there.

44 The Mighty Thor!
An exciting webquest sees children get enticed into the adventures of the Norse Mythology and Marvel comic hero; Thor.

CROSS CURRICULUM PROJECT PLAN

Ocean Environments
In this issues’ cross-curricular project plan, Sue Lyle plunges students into an engaging study of oceans and marine wildlife.
