

Cover Story

Cover Story How Senior And Middle Leaders Can Learn To Love Each Other

In the current school climate, where shared leadership at all levels is required, the division of tasks and delegation of decision-making by senior leaders is increasingly becoming critically important for the success of the school. Dr. Nasima Riazat reports.
p20

REGULARS

- Editorial 1
The Governments Policy For Schools Is Coping and Hoping
- Points 4
Damian Hinds to cut workload to tackle teacher shortage, Faith schools: Complaints over admissions rising, Cut school autonomy to prevent bullying of headteachers, says Ofsted chief and more.
- Trends 08
Schools Face Financial Insolvency In Two Years

- Report Update 13
Our regular digest of important new documents and studies for school teachers

FEATURES

- A New Way To Develop Teaching Assistants 26
A supervision method used in health and social care services has shown it can provide major lessons for education, reports Claire Johnson.
- Race in/equality and school leadership: what can school leaders and governors do? 34
No school likes to think of themselves as racist. But subconscious bias and discrimination is playing a devastating role, argues Professor Paul Miller.

Black Leaders: A Case For More Research 42

Everyone knows there is a serious problem in the UK about the lack of black leaders, but, like the issue itself, it is not being addressed by education academics, reports Professor Marianne Coleman.

System leadership and collaboration – a new skillset for leaders? 50

In this article, Toby Greany describes the development of school-to-school support, networks and partnerships, focussing in particular on recent developments in England. He explores the leadership practices associated with these and argues that school leaders must become adept at working in an environment that incentivises collaborative competition.

A Deeper Look At Mastery 60

It seems that virtually every school in the country is thinking about Mastery Learning, but, from recent conversations with school leaders, very few of them have a clear understanding of what mastery learning is, reports Heather Clements.

Who Is Leading Our Schools? 70

Increasing confusion now hangs over the role of school governors. In an era of MATs, Julia Steward unpicks the question of what their role really is?

School Research: The New Frontier 76

The push for more and better school-led research to improve practice and children's learning has never been stronger. But many are skeptical about its value. Tim Cain investigates its current role and reception at the coal face.

The Working Class Conundrum 82

Her own class background has given Professor Sonia Blandford a unique insight into the way working class children fail and what can be done about it.

This is What Inclusion Means To Me 86

Amy Husband is the head teacher of Clifford Bridge Academy. Here she gives a personal view on what it means to be an inclusive school.

Intervening Early With The Tree of Life
A creative way to help school children talk about themselves 90

Narrative therapy, children telling the stories of their lives and culture, can be an effective early intervention that prevents more serious mental health issues developing in children. Carl Dutton explains.

PRIMARY FILE

Bold Beginnings ...Down The Wrong Path 96

Ofsted is now undermining the positive attributes of the EYFS and needs to be resisted, argues Professors Chris Pascal and Tony Bertram.

Moving to Learn 100

Maureen Hunt explains why movement is so essential for young children's learning.

Editorial Office

Editor
Howard Sharron

PRODUCTION EDITOR
Daniel Lagoe

DESIGN MANAGER
Devinder Sonsana

ADVERTISING DEPARTMENT
+44 (0) 121 224 7599

CUSTOMER SERVICES
+44 (0) 121 224 7578

EMAIL
enquiries@teachingtimes.com

Company registration number 02445043
© School Leadership Today 2018
ISSN 2040-1310

No part of this publication may be reproduced, copied or transmitted in any form or by any means.

School Leadership Today is an independent magazine. The views expressed in signed articles do not necessarily represent those of the magazine.

The magazine cannot accept any responsibility for products and services advertised within it.

Contact us
School Leadership Today is published by Imaginative Minds, U205 The Jubilee Centre, 130 Pershore Street, Birmingham, B5 6ND

■ Tel. +44 (0) 121 224 7599
■ Fax. 0121 224 7598
■ www.teachingtimes.com